

1

The first hole features the only tree in play on the golf course. Dog leg right to a green guarded by bunkers on both sides and a desert cliff's edge long. Approach shots will run right to left off the slope of the two-tiered green.

2

Club selection is important to this large green. Shots aimed left should roll back down to the middle of the green. A miss short right provides a make-able up and down, especially to the challenging back right tier.

3

Favour the right-hand side of the fairway as the creek left is in play off the drive, and crosses the fairway again 225 yards from the green. A well-positioned second shot is important to hit the correct part of this challenging green.

4

Club selection and accuracy are important on this par 3. With a challenging bunker in front and a steep drop off just left of the green, be wary of aiming for a left pin, especially if the wind is a factor!

5

One of the easiest holes for men, this par 5 is reachable in 2 with a good drive. If laying up, be sure to place your second shot in the fairway for a good look at the green. Avoid both greenside bunkers at all costs.

6

Avoid going OB left off the tee. The hole opens up right with an extra fairway down below. Aim for the left side of the green on approach as everything will funnel to the right. Distance control is key to this large green separated by a ridge.

7

Grip it and rip it to this wide fairway with OB left. A precise wedge shot to a raised green with trouble behind will give you a good look at birdie.

8

A quirky hole. Long hitters can challenge the green off the tee, but be wary as the green drops off into fescue and hazard. A lay up to the end of the fairway is smart. Club selection into the narrow green is key. Be on the correct side of this two-tiered green.

9

The closing hole of the front nine is both scenic and challenging. A drive by the 150 marker is important and will make for an easier approach shot. Avoid bunkers long and short left. Par is always a good score.

10

This hole features a water hazard left that is in play off the tee. A correctly aimed tee shot will leave a wedge into this two-tiered green. Favour the right side of the green on approach as the left bunker provides a challenge.

11

Entering the residential area of the golf course, this par 5 is surrounded by beautiful homes on both sides. Good shots will garner good results on this hole. Be careful not to fly the green as there is a drop off and cliff hazard behind.

12

The centre of the green is never bad on this par 3 with cliffs left and houses right. A putt from the back of the green to a front pin is very quick, so be cautious on speed.

13

An elevated tee shot and dog leg right over the creek. Long hitters can make it over the creek on a calm day. If laying up, favour the right of the fairway for a shorter approach.

14

A beautiful par 3 over desert fescue. You want to be on the correct tier of this green to avoid a nasty putt. Adjust accordingly for wind and elevation, swing smooth, and you might just get a hole in one!

15

This long and narrow fairway slopes right to left with hazard on the left. Drives down the right side of the fairway will roll down to the centre. Do not go long on approach as the hazard snakes its way behind the green.

16

This hole becomes a beast from the back tees, but it boasts one of the best views on the course. If visiting, it's worth the drive up to the top tees to take in the view. Aim right for the shortest carry. On the slightly uphill approach, right is a better miss than left.

17

This downhill par 3 is often made challenging by wind. Club selection is key. Try to be on the proper section of this large, undulating green for a good look at birdie.

18

A tricky closing hole that can be attacked with well struck shots. Choose how much to bite off over the hazard from the tee. The hole becomes narrow after the tee shot with hazard on both sides and bunkers surrounding the large three-tiered green.
